End Construction!

This defiant lamp post in front of Tomkins McCaw provides a unique commentary on life at MCV. Students' hectic schedules were disrupted in 2000 by the endless construction, both inside and out. This grand ballet of bulldozers and cranes signaled the demise of buildings past and will eventually yield to the birth of the Gateway Building: the symbol of a new era at MCV.

The fresh new face of the Medical Campus at VCU helps to usher in the next millennium and a time of change to meet the ubiquitous challenges of American healthcare.

As the students make the rounds in their careers, they will alleviate the suffering of their patients and make the grand sacrifice of placing others' needs above their own. These health professionals of tomorrow embark on a demanding journey, but know that "each new hour holds new chances for new beginnings." -Maya Angelou

y2k year in review

Patrick, Assistant Editor

Not unlike Hannibal Lecter, Patrick picks his brains for the best and worst of the Year 2000.

(Sources: www.cnn.com and www.time.com)

BEST

y2k Celebration

2 million people in Manhattan, 8,000 police, 6,000 lbs. of confetti, 48 bomb threats (all false).

Yugoslav Election

Tyrant and all around mean guy Slobodan Milosevic finally got pushed out of power after he tried to nullify the results of his loss to Vojislav Kostunica.

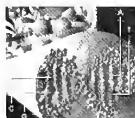

Napster

Thank you, Shawn Fanning, for allowing me to download all of Britney's mp3s.

Breakup of Microsoft Monopoly

Bill Gates: do not pass Go, do not collect $200.

Human Genome Project

The whole genome! They used a really big pipettor.

Charles Schulz

The creator of the beloved comic strip, The Peanuts, died February 12, 2000. Charlie Brown and the gang live on to inspire future generations of children.

WORST

y2k Bug

Russia's military spent $4 million on y2k preparedness, the U.S. military spent $4 billion, I spent $4.75 at Lowe's for a new flashlight.

U.S. Presidential Election

The world awaits as the epicenter of intellectual thought, Miami-Dade County, decides who the next leader of the free world will be.

Metallica and the Recording Industry Association of America

Successfully sued Napster for violating intellectual property rights. You stink Lars!

Dot.com Implosion

Over 40,000 dot.com job cuts in y2k with 91 companies (18%) going out of business.

Firestone Recall

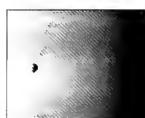

As if that wasn't bad enough, the Firestone on Broad charged me too much for a new clutch.

Elian Goes Home

We sent him back in exchange for El Duque, a first-round draft pick, and a box of Cuban cigars.

BEST

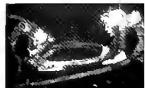

Astronomy Dudes

Did you know we discovered 9 new planets last year? This brings the total number of planets found circling stars other than our sun to 50.

NEAR-Shoemaker

Lands on the asteroid Eros, NASA finally gets one right.

Kursk Sinks

Those Russian subs are fragile.

The Sopranos

Tony Soprano could outlast Richard Hatch in North Jersey, anyday. He's won more Emmys, too.

Playstation 2 Fever

This year's must-have toy; still too expensive on eBay.

Jennifer Lopez

Basically, I just needed an excuse to print this picture from the 2000 Grammys.

Marion Jones

She took home 36 golds, 12 silvers, and was the darling of the 2000 Sydney Olympics.

Tiger Woods

Won 3 of 4 majors and last year's MCV charity golf tournament.

Lance Armstrong

Battles testicular cancer and wins second straight Tour de France. I can't even make it to my 8 o'clocks.

WORST

ILOVEYOU Virus

I just wanted someone to love me.

Water on Mars?

Evian quickly claimed all bottling rights until 2015.

U.S.S. Cole Attacked

Time to whoop Bin Laden's @ss!

Survivor

Richard Hatch won $1 million as 51.7 million viewers tuned in to watch the final episode.

Harry Potter

Come on, he's British!

NY Yankees

3-peat, stole Mike Mussina from the Orioles. I hate that George Steinbrenner.

Sydney Olympics

Tape-delayed broadcasts, 8 total viewers.

John Rocker

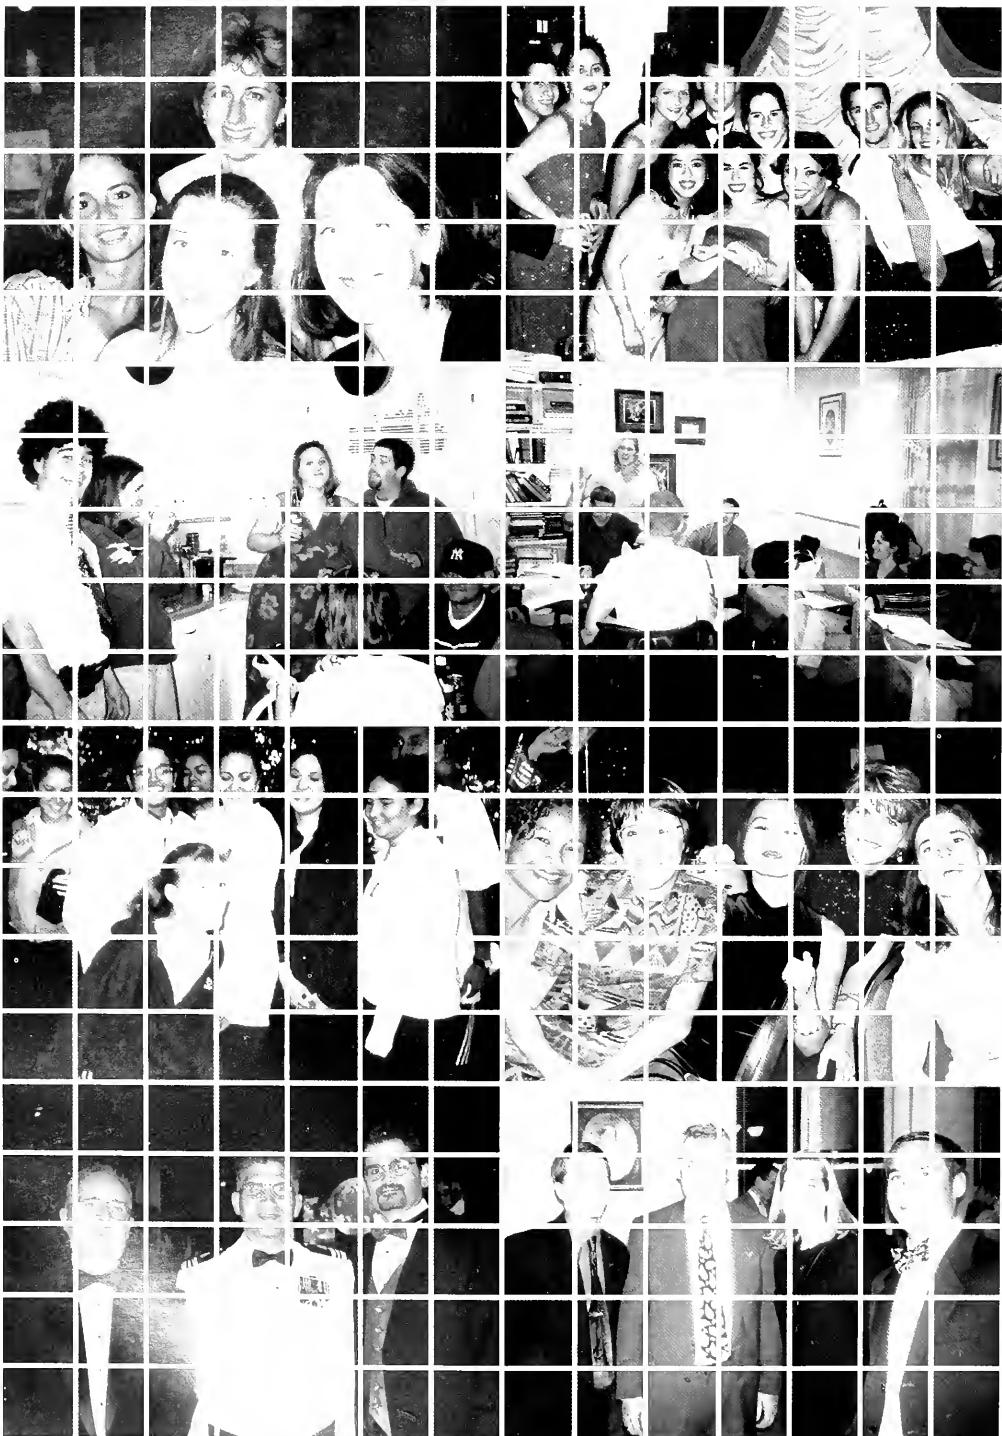

His December 27, 1999 racial slurs sparked a year of apologies. He insulted everyone but your mama.

Bob Knight

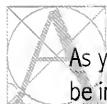

Head basketball coach at Indiana, fired after 29 years of technicals and one potted plant thrown at a secretary.

school of allied health

As you read this issue of the X-Ray, the last edition to be published in this century, you will be impressed by the tremendous accomplishments of the School of Allied Health Professions' students, faculty, staff, and alumni.

The shifting of demographic, macroeconomic forces, volatility in the health care industry, and rapidly emerging technologies have all significantly impacted our school. As a consequence, we have developed state-of-the-art programs, which have enhanced our capacity for even greater achievement and quality improvement. By many objective measures, our school is one of the leading schools of allied health in the country. But to declare victory or to become too complacent would harm many of the accomplishments this school has made. Hence, we will continue our bold new initiatives and continue to make change happen-to continue as the national leader in allied health higher education. All these things will enhance the academic and clinical excellence of our students. We are so proud of our students, as these persons will provide positive leadership in their chosen professions in the future.

Soon many of you will be joining the ranks of our distinguished alumni. I hope you will remember your VCU years fondly, and maintain an active relationship with us. On behalf of the faculty and staff of the School of Allied Health Professions, congratulations and sincere best wishes for your future.

Sincerely,

school of dentistry

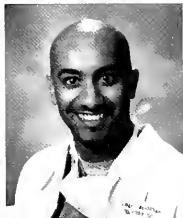

The VCU School of Dentistry Class of 2001 is about to enter the dental profession to serve the people of Virginia and beyond. I trust that you believe you are well prepared to face the many opportunities and challenges your new careers in the dental profession will bring. We have an outstanding faculty and support staff that collectively comprise the best that dental education has to offer. I am confident they have provided you the breadth, depth, and quality of instruction and learning experiences that you need to enter the postdoctoral education program of your choice or directly into the practice of general dentistry or dental hygiene. For your part, you have demonstrated the capability and dedication needed to succeed in our profession. We would like to keep you informed about new developments at the School, so as you pursue your professional careers, I would ask that you not lose touch with VCU or the School of Dentistry.

school of medicine

By anyone's reckoning, graduating from Medical School is one of life's major events. For many, the significance relates to accomplishing a goal, the end of a long struggle, becoming a physician. All of this is true but consider also, you have passed through the eye of a needle, through the looking glass, passed the last entry point into a career of healthcare service. As your long academic struggle comes to an end, your life long, on-the-job learning just begins. You are entering a remarkable century of unprecedented biomedical promise. Congratulations on gaining access to a fantastic life-long voyage.

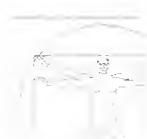

To the School of Medicine, Class of 2001, I say, "go out and get it," or to borrow a slogan, "Just do it." All the best to you in your careers.

Sincerely,

H. H. Newsome, Jr.

school of nursing

Dear Students of the Class of 2001:

Today, as you look to the future, I believe you should anticipate that opportunities abound for you to practice your chosen profession, and that organizations that employ you will be searching for ways to create a positive environment to support you and your practice.

Society generally, and health care agencies specifically, recognize now as never before that you are a scarce national treasure to be supported and encouraged to become the best you can become. They await you to bring them care.

As you progress through your career and life, I hope you remain connected to this, your alma mater, and you return on occasion to reminisce about "the way it was." You have been prepared with basics for entry into practice; we look forward to hearing how you continue to grow and develop from your professional roots. I extend best wishes for a long and rewarding career.

Sincerely,

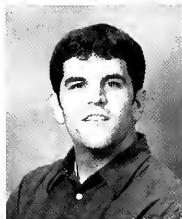

Nancy F. Langston, R.N., Ph.D.

school of pharmacy

VCU

Virginia Commonwealth University

ROBERT BLACKWELL SMITH, JR. B
SCHOOL OF PHARMACY

I am very pleased to take this opportunity to salute the graduating class of 2001 as you prepare to enter into a practice environment that will provide you with many challenging opportunities in the years to come. The health care environment that you are about to enter will not continue to exist in its present form. It will be replaced by new teams of health practitioners that will focus on cost and efficiency; systems in which the roles of all health professionals will become increasingly blurred. Our goal in the School of Pharmacy was to prepare you to be able to respond to those health care market changes while being motivated to continue to learn throughout your professional careers.

To survive in these uncharted waters you must not only possess the required clinical skills to take care of the individuals who seek your care, you must be able to argue, to persuade, and to transmit accurate data, impressions, and conclusions. You must know how to communicate! You must understand ethics and behave in an ethical manner. You must be able to understand population dynamics and epidemiology, and you must be able to document clearly the services you provide to your patients. You are a unique and valuable member of the health care team because you can make a contribution to the pharmacotherapy decision-making process that no other team member has to offer. You bring to the team the perspective, recommendations, and conclusions based on the pharmaceutical sciences. No other health profession has the background and training to understand how such factors as structure activity relationship, pH, or protein binding can influence the therapeutic efficacy or toxicity of a drug. Use it well!

I hope you can carry with you a feeling of pride and accomplishment as you leave this University and the School of Pharmacy. We are honored that you have chosen our program to prepare you to practice your profession, and we hope you will allow us to play a significant role in your professional growth and development in the future.
